

ITINERARY

sky high

So how much would you value bypassing airport security check-ins, the threat of lost luggage and cramped airline seats? “Air taxi” company Linear Air, which has just launched private luxury jet service out of BWI and other Maryland airports, sets the price at about $6,725 one way from say, BWI to New York’s LaGuardia Airport. Linear Air’s twin-engine Eclipse 500 aircraft seats up to four passengers and can be chartered for whenever— or wherever— you and your entourage want to go. With the increase in commercial airline costs and those pesky baggage fees, $6,700 split four ways suddenly doesn’t sound so shocking. We just hope complimentary peanuts are included in the fare. 877-2-LINEAR, linearair.com.
